

Announcement:

1. This License applies to the open source repository Way (<https://github.com/JYLinOK/Way>) for all the software code and other format files as the basic and fundamental open source license.
2. The License came into force on December 18, 2021.
3. This License takes effect simultaneously with the LGPL-2.1 License. However, if there is any conflict, this License shall prevail.
4. This License applies to Way1.05 and later versions. Includes the corresponding version number (Way1.05=v1.05=v1.0.5 and so on and later, that means the version released from December 15, 2021.) packaged or compressed files and distribution versions in various forms.

Purpose:

1. This Main License applies to limit the commercial authorization of embedding these Way(1.05 and later and same of above) as a Plug-in into any form of commercial software or including the these Way(1.05 and later and same of above) as a part or as a plug-in of commercial software for commercial release.
2. This License applies to stipulate the copyright of the these Way(1.05 and later and same of above) founder when the these Way(1.05 and later and same of above) as a plug-in of personal non-commercial software as a release.

Ordinances:

1. For any organization or individual or business group, if you use these Way (1.05 and later and same of above) as a Plug-in into any form of commercial software or including the these Way (1.05 and later and same of above) as a part or as a plug-in of commercial software for commercial release, you need to obtain the paid commercial authorization of the founder Jinwei Lin. The specific commercial release authorization fee needs to be determined based on actual usage.
2. The licensing fee for commercial embedded release will continue to be used to maintain and update the software Way, and maintain the corresponding development ecosystems. Thank you for your understanding and support!
3. For only for personal study and research purposes, if you use these Way (1.05 and later and same of above) as a Plug-in into any form of non-commercial software or including the these Way (1.05 and later and same of above) as a part or as a plug-in of non-commercial software for commercial release, you need to make an obvious announcement that "Used Way for secondary development, the original founder of the Way used is Jinwei Lin." on the significant position in your released software.

Jinwei Lin December 18, 2021.